DETAILED ACTION

Claims pending 1-9, 11-13.

The rejection of claims 1-9, 11-13 under 35 USC 103 over Gilligan et al and Gyermek still stands. Applicants arguments have not been found to be persuasive.

Applicants claims do not have any reference to the Na channel antagonist mechanism.

The prior art teaches similar compounds to treat migraine and pain. Thus the method of treating is obvious over the prior art.

In re Best Bolton and Shaw, 195 USPQ 430,

Mere recitation of newly-discovered function or property, inherently possessed by things in prior art, does not cause claim drawn to those things to distinguish over prior art; Patent Office can require applicant to prove that subject matter shown to be in prior art does not possess characteristic relied on where it has reason to believe that functional limitation asserted to be critical for establishing novelty in claimed subject matter may be inherent characteristic of prior art; this burden of proof is applicable to product and process claims reasonably considered as possessing allegedly inherent characteristics.

Applicants state that their compounds are Na channel antagonists and they treat migraine and pain . But the prior art has similar compounds and treat the same conditions. It is silent regarding the Na Channel antagonist mechanism, and applicants do not have any side by side showing that the prior art compounds do not have the Na channel antagonist properties .Thus the arguments have not been found to be convincing.

The rejection still stands.
